

Development Success Starts With Legal Identity

.....and it's more than a piece of paper

Meet Ika....

One of the world's largest unregistered U5 population is in Indonesia*

9.5 million U5 without birth certificate4 million U5 without NIK

>50% couples in poor household don't have marriage certificate

98% don't have divorce certificate
98% deaths were not reported
15% adults could not show KTP
16% of adults could not show KK
22% of children missing from KK*

Lack of legal identity has negative impacts on people's lives.

Without identity documents, it is difficult for people to:

Vote, work, open a bank account, take loans, own a property, cross state borders

Social assistances, government subsidy for health insurance, education

Legal identity documents are produced by civil registration and vital statistics (CRVS) system that in Indonesia is known as Sistem Administrasi Kependudukan (Adminduk)

Lack of legal identity limits access to services and can preserve poverty and perpetuate poor wellbeing outcomes

Improved Population Wellbeing

Informs Planning, Investment, and Evaluation of Programs

Increased Accessibility, Quality & Accountability of Public Services Facilitates Better Access to Public Services, Economic Opportunities, and Legal Protection

Vital Statistics Become More Reliable

Individuals are Guaranteed Their Legal Identities

Produces Accurate Data to Inform Vital Statistics Continously Registers Vital Events (Birth, Death, Cause of Death, Migration, Marriage, Divorce)

Produces Relevant Identity Documents

Functioning CRVS System

The Government of Indonesia is aware of the significance of legal identity and has made commendable strides toward resolving the deficiency

NATIONAL TARGET

Reach 85% birth certificate for all children in 2019

REGIONAL TARGET

Achieve universal CRVS goals by 2024 in Asia and the Pacific

GLOBAL TARGET

Achieve a legal identity for all by 2030

Strengthening birth registration requires strengthening of the overall birth, death, marriage, divorce, and migration registrations due to the interlinkages

Legal identity challenges are more structural than technical therefore we need to reform our CRVS system beyond technological fix, apply cross-sectorial coherence, and make serious investments at national and subnational levels

Legal identity gap is bigger in the younger population 37% U18 42% U5 57% U1
No birth certificate*

Legal identity gap is bigger in rural areas than in urban areas

Legal identity gap is bigger in lower income groups. 64% from the bottom two quintiles*

Lacking one identity document prevents you from the rest

Home Affairs holds the main authority but it involves other ministries (health, education, social protection, religious affairs, immigration, foreign affairs, the court, the police, labor, and migration)

Gol-DFAT-KOMPAK Program on CRVS Strengthening

To address the large number of unregistered individuals

Collective and integrated civil registration services

To support civil registration services

Village-based adminduk and local government's regulations/SOPs

To address passive legal identity seeking behavior

Direct information and assistance

To address the fragmented policies and financial structure on CRVS

National strategy on CRVS and more inclusive policies

To address the utilisation of vital data

Data interoperability between the civil registration and health, education, and social protection

VILLAGE REGISTRARS

(PRGs)

help bring the basic services to the society in Aceh

Previously...

community members in Aceh had difficulties in accessing civil registration service

2 In result,

many people, especially those who are poor and with disabilities, whose births are not registered and lack of proper legal documentations.

 Advocate community-based services model that generated PRG initiative • Facilitate inclusive community forums to discuss their rights to basic services, including civil registration services

To answer the community's needs, community forums appointed a number of members as PRGs. Their task is to proactively assist the citizens to register and obtain their legal identity documents.

5 What we have achieved so far:

These changes are the result of collaborative actions between KOMPAK PUSKAPA,

TAF, PKPM, GeRAK Aceh, local government, and the community members.

Community members can access civil registration services more easily.

Development will leave behind people without legal identity and those off the statistical map. If we want development to reach everyone, we need to count everyone.
